The Passion Of Flamenco
La Tania performs in the Cowell Theater's "Dance Delivery" series — see article and May 7.

MAY 1994

DANCE DELIVERY

The Cowell Theater's In Performance Series presents a celebration of the diversity and aesthetic range of dancemakers in the Bay Area. "Dance Delivery at the Cowell" is a festival of contemporary dance, with seven companies in six programs during May and June. Tickets for all performances are available through City Box Office, 392-4400.

The Passion of Flamenco
Traditional and innovative music and dance of Spanish Gypsies, with La Tania and Guillermo Rios. La Tania, raised in Spain among the Gypsies, studied with the masters of Flamenco, including such greats as Ciro, Merche Esmeralda and La Tati. A soloist since the age of 23, her career has taken her around the world performing, teaching and choreographing.

La Tania's aim is to demonstrate that Flamenco is an evolving art form. She presents a progression of dances, designed to evoke the different moods of Flamenco. The dances range from the "puro" traditional style to more dramatic modern presentations. These latter styles, while contemporary, respect the forms and roots of Flamenco. May 7 and 8, Saturday 8pm, Sunday 7pm. Tickets are $20.

Excavations of the Spirit
A world premiere performance to celebrate the tenth anniversary of Anne Bluethenthal & Dancers. Excavations of the Spirit is an evening-length, multidisciplinary collaborative work conceived and choreographed by Bluethenthal. The piece explores spirituality in the context of contemporary urban existence.

"City life pulls us away from spirit and community," says Bluethenthal, "because individual survival is so consuming and compelling. I see people, as a whole, beginning to sense this spiritual void and seeking to fill it."

May 11, Wednesday at 8pm, is a Benefit Preview for breast cancer funds, with tickets priced at $20. Performances continue May 12 through 15, Thursday through Saturday 8pm, Sunday 3pm. Tickets are $18 for preferred seating, $15 general, $12 for students and seniors.

Tellurian Dances

Flying in the Face of Song
"The exquisite freedom of flight on a trapeze, the ground of a heavy grand piano, strings and hammers and ropes and wood...the voice between balancing and holding then lilting into freedom beside the body climbing swinging hanging twisting while the piano holds steady....Sky and earth and the voice in the center....Lyrics and pure melody, raw sound and the rhythm of the rope's swing, the singer's breath and the piano holds steady."

An exhilarating collaboration of poetry, song, and improvisation: aerialist Susan Murphy, jazz singer Rhiannon and polyrhythmic pianist Dick Hindman. May 19 and 21, Thursday and Saturday at 8pm. Adults $12, children $6; age 6 and under, free.

Tellurian Dances
Highlights from Anima Mundi, an ecological ballet with dancers moving through the realms of nature—roots, reindeer and stars. Choreographed by Kathryn Roszak, frequent performer with the San Francisco Opera Ballet; music devised and arranged by award-winning composer and visual artist Christopher Castle.

New works on the program: Fins, Wings and Paws, with music and dance derived from the tracks of California animals: Great Blue Heron, Lizard and Bobcat; and Sephardic Dances, a haunting evocation of soulful Spanish/Jewish music. May 21 and 22, Friday and Sunday, 8pm. General admission $14, students and seniors $12.

Double Feature
OnSite Dance Co. premieres Stuntwork, illuminating the cinematic medium and the representation of the moving body in film.The company also performs Mount Mount, a hilarious tribute to team sports, and their "dangerously physical" Shop. SQUAD presents dance-noire The Receptionists, a painfully funny look at what lurks behind the smiling exteriors of those paid to be pleasant; and premieres Our Vehicles, Our Selves, a sly look at close-to-the-heart transportation issues, therapy addiction, and various feminist arguments. June 3 through 12, Friday and Saturday 8pm, Sunday 3pm. $12.50 to $8.

The Fish & The Fire
Part mystery, part fairy tale, a multimedia production of dance, music, text and theatrical design by ZigZag Theatre. The Fish and the Fire transports the viewer from the enchanted kitchen of a disgruntled wife into a fantasy world of spirited fire dances and intriguing undersea dramas. The wife disappears. The husband who is left behind is portrayed as a charming but dispirited dog, torn between faithful love for his wife and the insistent advice of his nosy neighbors.

The original score by Phil Freihofner, a combination of soprano, oboe and synthesized gamelan, "...gently pries open the imagination," according to The Oakland Tribune. June 23 through 26, Thursday and Friday 8pm, Saturday 2 and 8pm, Sunday 3pm. $15 to $12, with a special children's price of $6 at the matinee performances.

MAYDAY AIDS BENEFITS

Two organizations of great importance in the fight against AIDS host major fundraising events at Fort Mason Center on Sunday, May 1. At 8am in the Festival Pavilion, a grand celebration sends off 500 bicyclists on California AIDS Ride '94's seven-day journey to Los Angeles. At the same time, Project Open Hand's Spring Flea Market opens next door in the Herbst Pavilion.

Each of the 500 cyclists in AIDS Ride '94 has secured at least $2000 in pledges—more than $1 million total—for the Jeffrey Goodman Special Care Clinic at the Los Angeles Gay and Lesbian Community Services Center. The Clinic is the largest provider of early AIDS treatment in Los Angeles, serving more than 3,000 medically indigent clients annually. It also operates numerous AIDS prevention education programs, a women's HIV clinic, and the largest anonymous HIV testing site in the country.

The AIDS Ride cyclists will average 70 miles a day—through Santa Cruz and along Monterey Bay, inland to Pinnacles National Monument, down through Paso Robles, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, and Ventura—finishing with ceremonies at the Pacific Design Center in West Hollywood on the afternoon of May 7. To get more information, or find out how you can help, call (213) 874-7474.

Project Open Hand provides free meals to hundreds of Bay Area residents with AIDS. Since 1985, it has been one of the prime providers of quality-of-life assistance for people struggling with the HIV virus. In 1989, the organization's kitchens and volunteers provided thousands of meals to people made homeless by the Loma Prieta earthquake.

The annual Spring Flea Market is pledged to raise more than $100,000 for Open Hand's operating expenses. Donations received so far include many unusual and high-end items—such as the Gump family's grand piano—as well as more mundane things like kitchen utensils, furniture, toys, clothes, linens, art supplies and CDs, even "Aunt Martha's old garden shears." Hours for the Flea Market are 10am to 6pm; admission is $2. A Preview Sale takes place from 8 to 10am with admission of $10. To find out more, or to volunteer, call 896-5997.

FORT MASON CENTER is...

...a variety of colorful characters dealing with modern-day urban reality.
Hazelle Goodman at the Magic Theatre—see article.

HAZELLE!

The Magic Theatre presents the world premiere of a lively and hilarious one-woman show starring acclaimed monologist Hazelle Goodman. Written by Goodman with Adriana Trigiani, the show is directed by Gloria Muzio, with original music by Greg D'Alessandro and Bangaroo.

Trinidad native and New York resident Goodman calls Hazelle! "a collection of lives." In the tradition of Whoopi Goldberg and Lily Tomlin, she portrays a variety of colorful characters of different race, gender, and age, dealing with modern-day urban reality.

Through a series of comedic and poignant vignettes, accompanied by the live high-energy music of the Bangaroo trio, Goodman introduces a dozen different personalities, each on a journey to better his or her life.

Among them are Bertha Beth Washington, who preaches that "big is in...the hell with being thin"; Willie Colon, a Latino youth hustling on the subways; Chantiece, a young woman looking to snare a man; Millie, a newly-arrived Caribbean immigrant battling her way up the ladder of success; and Miss Sarah, a hard-working Southern black woman.

Goodman has workshopped Hazelle! at various clubs in New York City, including the Duplex and PS 122. During an earlier version, the New York Post exclaimed that Goodman "will leave you feeling exhilarated. (She) has an innate sensibility for dramatic catharsis balanced with comedy...quite a show."

Co-writer Trigiani was a producer of "The Cosby Show." She wrote the feature films Till Death Do Us Part and My Guardian Angel, and has been represented on the stages of Manhattan Punch Line, Missouri Rep, and the Manhattan Theatre Club.

The comedy is highlighted by Bangaroo, the New York City-based musical combo whose sound comes from a fusion of funk, reggae, calypso, Afro-Cuban, Brazilian and pop.

Enveloping the Magic stage with the vibrant colors of an urban Caribbean community is New York scenic designer Derek McLane, with credits at the New York Shakespeare Festival, Lincoln Center Theatre, and Circle Rep.

The Magic Theatre collaborates with another Fort Mason Center resident organization for Hazelle! and the following show, Athol Fugard's Playland. The Magic presents exhibits in its lobbies as a commentary on or a reflection of the current play. On rare occasions, the works even become an integral part of the set design.

The San Francisco African American Historical & Cultural Society, with a gallery in Building C at Fort Mason Center, is mounting exhibits to complement the excitement and power of these two productions. For more information about the exhibits, call 441-0640.

Hazelle! is presented in Magic's Northside Theatre April 26 through May 22, with previews April 20 through 23. May 14 and 21 are "Party Nights," with special after-the-show festivities.

The show runs Wednesday through Saturday at 8:30pm, Sunday at 2 and 7:30pm. Tickets are $21 to $17, with "pay what you can" tickets available Thursday, May 12, and Sunday, May 15 at the 2pm performance. For information and reservations, call the Magic box office, 441-8822.

THE LIBERTY SHIP

Last month, the SS Jeremiah O'Brien got underway from San Francisco's Pier 45 for a 35-day trip to Europe. There the ship will participate in the 50th anniversary of the D-Day landings on France's Normandy beaches.

Berthed at Fort Mason since 1979, the 51-year-old Liberty ship is the last of 2,750 built that is still maintained in its original condition. Lovingly preserved by an army of volunteers, she serves as a floating museum, and as a memorial to merchant seamen.

A documentary called The Men Who Sailed The Liberty Ships, recently filmed on the O'Brien, receives its first public screening this month at the Cowell Theater. The hour-long film tells the story of the 250,000 men who delivered troops, fuel and materiel to fighting fronts around the world. Often scorned by members of the Armed Forces, and maligned in the media, merchant seamen took some of the highest casualties of any who served in World War II. At war's end, Congress denied them GI benefits awarded to others.

The Jeremiah O'Brien crossed the English Channel under intense bombardment eleven times during the Normandy landings in 1944. On June 6, 1994, she will again make the voyage. On that same day, The Men Who Sailed The Liberty Ships premieres on PBS.

The O'Brien returns on October 6, re-entering San Francisco Bay at the head of Fleet Week's Parade of Ships. For more information, contact the Fort Mason Center office of the National Liberty Ship Memorial SS Jeremiah O'Brien, 441-3101.

The premiere screening of The Men Who Sailed The Liberty Ships, and a reception for producer Marie Brooks, take place at the Cowell Theater on Thursday, May 26 from 6:30 to 9:30pm. Admission is $5. For more information, call (510) 451-9226.

CERAMICS GUILD

Ceramics students at the Fort Mason Center Campus of City College of San Francisco have founded an organization to promote the growth of their art. The Guild plans to sponsor lectures and workshops conducted by recognized artists that will be open to the public.

The Guild also provides a venue for members to sell their work at several sales throughout the year. A percentage of sale profits will go to buying much-needed supplies and equipment for the CCSF Ceramics Department, which will benefit all ceramics students at Fort Mason Center.

The first Guild sale takes place on Saturday, May 7, just in time for Mother's Day and June wedding gift-giving, with functional and sculptural ceramics on sale. Throwing and hand-building demonstrations are presented throughout the day. In Ceramics Room 107, Landmark Building B, from 10am to 6pm. Admission is free. For information, call 561-1843.

FROM THE TIME OF DREAMS

Bay Area Theatresports presents "Stories from the Time of Dreams," an evening of improvised creation stories.

A benefit for the Theater Bay Area Lemonade Fund and BATS, this special performance features masks, dance, and shadow puppets. The entire BATS company improvises stories inspired by the creation stories of tribal peoples from around the world. Using suggestions from the audience, the BATS "tribe" creates stories about the beginnings of things, places, people, and traditions.

Musical accompaniment is provided by Stephen Kent playing didgeridoo and percussion instruments, and Kenneth Newby playing Asian wind instruments and electronics. Kent and Newby are members of the techno-tribal band Trance Mission.

British-born Kent is an internationally acclaimed master of the Aboriginal instrument that has been played for over 40,000 years. The didgeridoo is believed to be the oldest wind instrument in the world.

"Microchip and windmeister" Newby is a graduate in computer and electronic music from Simon Fraser University in Vancouver, BC, and a veteran of several years of musical study in Bali and Java. His unusual musical background results in a unique blend of Indonesian and Asian wind instruments with computer and electronic music technology.

The Lemonade Fund was created by Theater Bay Area to provide grants to actors and theater workers with critical illnesses. The Fund awards grants of up to $500 for non-medical quality-of-life uses.

The Fund is there to make possible things that are not covered by insurance. The philosophy is "When life hands them lemons, we help them make lemonade." For information about the Lemonade Fund, call 957-1557.

"Stories from the Time of Dreams" is presented in the Cowell Theater on Monday, May 23 at 8pm. Tickets are $15, with $2 of each ticket sold going to the Lemonade Fund. Student and senior tickets are $12; group sales are available. Reservations are recommended—call the BATS Hotline, 824-8220.

BATS has extended the run of "Cop Doctors In Love," a continuing improvised soap opera presented on Monday evenings at 8pm, May 2, 9 and 16 in the Bayfront Theater.

Each show begins with regulation Theatresports improv competition during the first half of the evening, followed by the "steamy soap." Described as daytime drama at night, "Cop Doctors" reveals "the complex inner lives of those hardworking professionals with whom we entrust our public health and safety. See how we think they think, love, and live....Is police surgeon Sandra Sausalito really carrying Captain Ben Benicia's baby? And what about the hardworking DA Peter Pittsburg?"

Theatresports is teams of improvisers performing scenes based on audience suggestions, competing for points awarded by Olympics–style judges. BATS is part of an international organization of Theatresports leagues performing in 23 countries around the world. BATS players include members of several local performing groups, including Fratelli Bologna and Pulp Playhouse.

Tickets are $7, students and seniors $6, group sales available. For reservations, call 824-8220.

AMERICA'S PARKS

The National Parks and Conservation Association presents "Citizens Protecting America's Parks: Joining Forces for the Future" in San Francisco this month.

Those attending this 75th Anniversary Conference include grassroots activists, park support group members, and representatives of local and national environmental groups as well as National Park Service employees.

Conference topics include learning how to get the message out, raise money, influence elected officials, organize support groups, and network with other park activists. The conference is designed to help provide the skills needed to protect and enhance parks and build effective partnerships.

The conference takes place May 18 through 21, opening with a reception Wednesday evening at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel. Talks and workshops, also at the hotel, take place on Thursday.

Thursday evening, from 5 to 10pm, there is a tour of the Presidio, followed by a dinner and award presentation at Fort Mason Center's Herbst Pavilion.

The dinner celebrates the NPCA's 75th anniversary, and salutes citizen heroes. A park activist will receive the 1994 Marjory Stoneman Douglas Citizen Conservationist of the Year award. Named after the champion of the Everglades and one of the founders of the American conservation movement, the award recognizes outstanding individual efforts to preserve and protect national parks.

On Friday, May 20 the conference convenes at Fort Mason Center, which is in the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. Talks and workshops take place at the Conference Center, Landmark Building A. The luncheon speaker is Rep. George Miller, Chair, House Natural Resources Committee, introduced by Rep. Nancy Pelosi. His topic is "The Politics of Conservation." Friday evening features a special trip to Alcatraz Island, with dinner, and a tour of the historic prison.

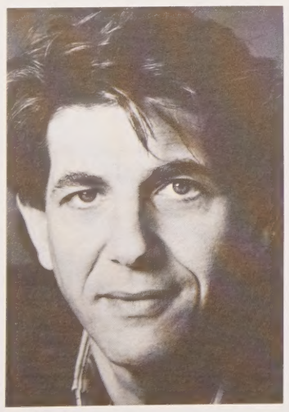
One of the country's most heavily visited national parks and the world's largest park in an urban setting, the GGNRA includes some of America's most beautiful and recognizable landmarks, including the Golden Gate, Muir Woods National Monument, the Presidio, Point Reyes National Seashore, Fort Mason, and Alcatraz Island.

The conference continues Saturday morning at the hotel, followed by afternoon field trips to the Marin Headlands.

Conference participants receive a copy of NPCA's Our Endangered Parks: What You Can Do To Protect Our National Heritage. Published by Foghorn Press, the book is based on NPCA's National Park Activist Guide. Featuring the stories of people who have won battles for their local parks, this invaluable guide is packed with information and easy-to-use, step-by-step instructions to help empower citizens to save the parks.

Advance registration is strongly recommended, since the conference is limited to 350 people. For information, call (202) 223-6722.

ANCIENT FOREST WILDERNESS



Peter Coyote

California's Sierra Nevada range contains some of the most majestic and beloved landscapes in the United States—canyons on the scale of Yosemite Valley, hidden waterfalls 550 feet high, misty 500-year-old forests—and over 8,000 species of plants and animals.

As a result of 103 years of conservation legislation, the Sierras have a superb network of wilderness areas and parks in the higher elevations. However, very little legislative protection or regulatory attention has been given to the middle level ancient forests. This part of the Sierra Nevada contains a half-million acres of magnificent temperate forests almost unchanged from the way they were before agricultural development and urbanization transformed the state.

In 1992, the Sierra Biodiversity Institute, with help from other conservation organizations, completed the first comprehensive survey of these ancient wildlands and presented a forest reserve network proposal to Congress. However, in the subsequent two years the proposal has gone nowhere; the area has continued to be excluded from protection and threatened by development.

To focus attention on this situation, Patagonia Incorporated is hosting "Ancient Forest Wilderness of the Sierra Nevada—An Evening with David Brower, Peter Coyote, Gary Snyder and Bob Weir." This event benefits the Sierra Biodiversity Institute, raises funds for a forest protection education campaign, and supports publication of a book on the river basins of the Sierra Nevada.

Introduced by actor Peter Coyote, the evening features remarks on Earth Summit Brazil 1992 by young environmentalist Severin Suzuki, an address by Friends of the Earth founder David Brower, readings by poet Gary Snyder, a multimedia presentation by Eric Beckwitt, and music by Maria Muldaur, Rob Wasserman, Roberta Donnay, and Grateful Dead guitarist Bob Weir. An exhibit and silent auction of photography, paintings and other materials celebrating the ancient forests precedes the program.

The event is presented at the Cowell Theater on Tuesday, May 24. The exhibit and silent auction open at 6:30pm, a reception for the speakers begins at 7pm, and the program starts at 8pm. Admission is $100. For information, call 771-2050.

ART SALE

The Sky Above
by Carol Doyle

The San Francisco Museum of Modern Art Rental Gallery presents its first annual Art Warehouse Sale. Art treasures from the studios and archives of the gallery's eminent artists are offered at dramatic discounts. Proceeds from the sale will support the ongoing Rental Gallery program, dedicated to promoting Bay Area artists.

The recession has affected all arts organizations, and the Rental Gallery is no exception. For this reason, the Gallery has come up with this "wild and unusual event." The sale is designed to benefit artists as well as the Rental Gallery and the new site of the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art.

Included in the sale are paintings, photographs, prints, collage, assemblage and sculpture, works that "represent eloquently" the Rental Gallery artists. Participants include Gustavo Rivera, Inez Storer, Willard Dixon, Carl Dern, Julius Hatofsky, Jeanne O'Connor, Michael Ashcraft, Livia Stein, and Carol Doyle.

The event opens with a special "Bargain Hunters" reception on Wednesday, May 4 from 5 to 8pm, featuring refreshments, and music by Karen Leigh and her Gypsy Troupe. Art lovers are urged to come early for the greatest treasures.

The sale continues Thursday through Saturday, May 5 through 7. The Rental Gallery opens at 11:30am, and is open until 7pm on Thursday and Friday for the special sale. There is an "Extra Grand Closing Party" on Saturday, May 7, from 3 to 5:30pm. For information, call 441-4777.

MASTERS OF FINE ARTS

In the largest annual fine arts event in the Bay Area, Masters of Fine Arts students from the San Francisco Art Institute present their best work. Representing years of diligent effort by the graduates, it offers a unique opportunity for the public to view work by the newest generation of professional artists.

This nine-day exhibition at Fort Mason Center is comprised of individual exhibits by each of the participants—more than 60 graduating MFA students in painting, sculpture, video, photography, installation, drawing, and printmaking.

The 123-year-old San Francisco Art Institute is the only fully accredited college in the country devoted solely to fine arts. It offers BFA and MFA programs in a wide range of genres, as well as exhibitions, lectures, symposia and continuing education.

The exhibition runs from Saturday, May 7 through Sunday, May 15 in the Herbst Pavilion. Hours are 10am to 6pm daily; admission is free. A reception for the artists takes place on Saturday, May 7 from 3 to 5pm. For information, call 749-4588.
